

Chris Tyberg is Divisional Vice President, Product Security at Abbott

Mr. Tyberg is responsible for leading and coordinating product security efforts across Abbott's various business units and products. Prior to his current role, Chris served as Divisional Vice President of Product Security for Abbott's Medical Device Division as well as the Chief Information Security Officer at St. Jude Medical. He began his career as part of the information security and risk practice at Ernst & Young LLP.